Stafford Newsletter

November 2023

Welcome to our monthly edition of Monkey Puzzle Stafford news!

So, what have the rooms been up to this month?

Cheeky Chimps

We have certainly had another busy month in Cheeky Chimps for the month of November! Though the weather has certainly got colder our children are now becoming experts at getting their shoes and coats on so we can still adventure outside.

This month we have been very busy celebrating various themes such as Bonfire Night, Remembrance Day, Children in Need and National Science Day. The children have loved painting various crafts for these activities and have developed fantastic coordination and control over the paint brush they are using. We have also enjoyed activities that have involved decorating various food items such as biscuits and cupcakes.

We have also been trying to come up with exciting new activities and experiences for the children to be introduced to and this month we have explored bear yoga and dried fruit testing.

Mischievous Monkeys

The toddlers have made a start with baking...we have had fun baking tarts linking to our book of the week. We've also made biscuits and decorated stickman biscuits. We've been full of smiles and they've enjoyed this so much!

We have celebrated children in need, exploring a range of activities and enjoying dressing up in Yellow! They got messy and loved using their motor skills to scoop balls up and explore our children in need tuff tray.

They have also been busy exploring emotions, painting the emotion faces to understand how they can express their own emotions when feeling sad, happy, angry or confused. We have been working hard to express emotions using words.

Groovy Gorillas

Our Groovy Gorilla's have been busy this month focusing on mathematics, literacy and their fine motor skills!

They have continued to look at farm animals and share their own stories.

We have also done lots of baking and cooking activities!
